

Would you like to work at one of Europe's largest distributors of security products?

Citysafe Wholesale Limited

Citysafe has been providing excellent service to locksmiths, architectural ironmongers and builders merchants for over 25 years and now, as part of the Dutch based Nauta Group, are proud to be part of one of Europe's leading family owned security companies.

With over 15,000 different security products in stock from numerous, brand leading suppliers based worldwide, Citysafe is able to offer "one-stop shop" service to all its trade accounts.

Job description

Due to expansion an exciting opportunity has arisen for three Area Sales Managers covering London, the South East and the North East. The role will involve growing and maintaining existing accounts and developing new business opportunities within the security industry. You will be responsible for selling all aspects of the company's portfolio to a variety of customers including locksmiths, architectural ironmongers, builders merchants and hardware stores.

Would you like to work for one of Europe's largest independent distributors of security products? Do you have the dedication and passion to make this challenging role a success? Then this could be your new job!

Your profile

- Organized, customer oriented and target driven individual
- Field sales experience preferred (with related experience in the security industry), but not essential

We offer an attractive salary, bonus, company car, laptop, smartphone and the opportunity to join a company at the most exciting time in its long established history. The successful candidates will receive a full induction program, a part of which will take place at the Groups Head Office in the Netherlands.

Please email your CV to t.hill@citysafe.co.uk (or call Tony Hill on 023 8081 4181).
